Preface

WITH THE exception of the press-brailled books provided under the Federal program administered by the Library of Congress since 1931, this supplement represents a compilation of all readable braille titles reported by libraries and organizations to the Library of Congress since 1955. The publication includes approximately 4,200 titles, most of which are in single hand-brailled copies. The purpose is to provide a guide for locating books and, when used in conjunction with the Union Catalog of Hand-copied Books in Braille and the Catalog of Press Braille Books Provided by the Library of Congress, it should enable a blind reader to know what is available for loan and where it can be found.

The preparation of the supplement has been a cooperative project enlisting the assistance of 27 libraries and organizations, which contributed information relative to their holdings. The Division for the Blind wishes to thank the cooperating libraries and agencies, who have given so generously of their time and effort to make this compilation available to blind readers and workers for the blind.

The supplement is arranged under broad subject headings. An author index is provided for the non-fiction titles; books of fiction are listed alphabetically by author. All entries have been prepared from information provided by the reporting libraries, and reflect any incompleteness found therein. When both publisher and city of publication were given, the city of publication was omitted in the entries for the sake of brevity.

Location symbols are, in general, those employed by the National Union Catalog of the Library of Congress. A similar pattern has been followed in establishing the location key for those libraries not so symbolized.

Copies of this supplement are available for loan from the regional libraries circulating braille materials.

Contributing libraries are urged to report on holdings currently acquired, since the Division for the Blind will undertake to maintain a continuing union catalog in card form with a view to future publication of another supplementary volume if and when it seems advisable.
